Sprightly and Breezy Brands of Entertainment on Mid-Summer Bills.

Close Summer Season at Poli's, and Breezy Entertainment Will Continue at Keith's.

Not good-by, but au revoir, to the Poli Players. But the Poli intermission will be for a month only. And as a parting offering the Poli patrons could ask nothing better than "A Miracle Man," the Cohan dramatization of the Frank L. Packard, originally published in Munsey's Magazine.

Keith's goes blithely on fulfilling its promise of sprightly and breezy entertainment for the summer months with Bonita and Lew Hearn, Marion Weeks, and Mile. Destrees, who promises an exemplification in the art, vocal, terpischorean, and scenic, of the futurists.

Columbia will have an old home week program, with Charlotte Walker, once a stock favorite at that house, and Violet Heming, a more recent member of the Columbia's Stock Company, as the stellar attractions in the week's motion picture program there.

All the while the city's motion picture houses hold forth, with crowds seemingly unaffected by the warm weather, and making new friends.

POLI'S.

As the final production of the present season, S. Z. Poli has secured for production by the popular Poli Players George M. Cohan's most important contribution to the dramatic stage, "The Miracle Man.

mirable Man."

"The Miracle Man" first appeared in Munsey's Magazine. Mr. Cohan immediately secured the dramatic rights for it, and last August presented it at the Astor Theater, New York, with a distinguished cast, including Gali Kane. George Nash, and W. H. Thompson. The story concerns the efforts of four "sharpers." under the guidance of Madison, to capitalize the credulity of the Maine woods. The scheme works admirably, for one of the conspirators poses as a paralytic who is cured in the tresence of a large crowd, while the girl of the gang poses as a long-lost niece of the gang poses as a long-lost niece of the patriarch, and in this way she manages to gain a strong influence over him. In the end, however, all Madison's schemes go to smash because his coconspirators come under the benign influence of the saintly old patriarch, and they renounce all shares in the rich spoils of the game. The manner in which Madison himself eventually capitulates to the patriarch and renounces his nefarious schemes constitutes the dramatic climax of an original and highly dramatic stage story.

Albert Roscoe will be seen as Madison: Katherine LaSalle as Helene, the girl; Robert Lewe as the patriarch, Russell Fillmore as the dope fiend. Louis Haines as the "paralytic," and Gavin Harris as the hotel keeper.

B. F. KEITH'S

Stars and headliners of high class vaudeville are numerous in the B. F Keith Theater bill this week. From Lew Fields' comic campaigners

Here they will be seen for the first time in "Bits of Musical Comedy." Miss Marion Weeks, soprano, with a wonderful coloratura voice, sings the famous "Doil" song of "The Tales of Hoffmann." Gene Hodgkins, formerly of the Ziegfeld "Follies," assisted by Mile. "Kindling." the photodramatization of which is the vehicle in which Charlotte Walker makes her first appearance on Walker makes her first appearance on the screen, will be seen at the Colum-bia Theater for the first four days of this week, starting this afternoon at 3 o'clock. It is a play with a "genuine punch," that tells the story of a woman of the tenements who helps a thief rob the house where she is employed in order that she may get the money to leave the crowded city and bear a child under more healthy and normal conditions.

"Kindling." which was a tremendous Broadway success and which is now produced in pictures by arrangement with E. J. Bowes, is not exactly a drama on a theory, but is more strictly a "theme play" than any of the photodramas heretofore offered by the Lasky management. Though it does not advocate socialism, it is an attack on these rich property holders, who, while pretending to be charitably inclined, force their tenants to live under the most unsanitary conditions. It is not a "eugenic" play, but it deals very plainly with the necessity of giving chilling a vigualization of "A Lady of Quality." by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett. Still another dramatic star.
